

IMAGINE ...

... if all these cars were electric, the many billions of tons of extra batteries ...

... the mountains of vile byproducts to make those extra billions of batteries ...

... the mountains of vile waste from recycling those extra billions of batteries ...

... if just 10 of them ran out of battery power in a traffic jam ...

... the power distribution needed to charge these batteries ...

... the extra wear on the roads due to heavier vehicles

... the energy required to produce them with only turbines and PV panels ...

... and all for the false belief that carbon dioxide can make the world warmer than the Sun made it in the first place

Welcome to the Tontocene - the Age of Stupid.

Hans Schreuder
July 2018